

Rajeev Peshawaria

Rajeev is the CEO of Stewardship Asia Centre (SAC) in Singapore, and Founder President of the Leadership Energy Consulting (LEC) Company in Seattle, WA.

Author of the Wall Street Journal and Amazon bestseller Open Source Leadership (McGraw Hill), Too Many Bosses, Too Few Leaders (Simon & Schuster), Sustainable Sustainability: Why ESG is Not Enough (Penguin Random House SEA), co-author of Be the Change (McGraw Hill), and a regular writer for Forbes, he is an out-of-the-box thought leader on leadership, management, stewardship, and corporate governance.

Prior to joining SAC and starting LEC, he was CEO of the Iclif Leadership & Governance Centre based in Malaysia. Formerly, he was Chief Learning Officer of both Coca-Cola and Morgan Stanley, and has held senior positions at American Express, HSBC, and Goldman Sachs. At Goldman, Rajeev helped found Pine Street—the firm's acclaimed leadership academy—and headed Pine Street for Europe and Asia. In his early career, he was a banker and currency trader.

He provides speaking, coaching, consulting, and advisory services to corporate and public sector clients globally. He also serves as guest faculty at leading business schools in the US, Europe, and Asia. He is a sought-after international speaker and has been widely featured in international media platforms such as CNN, Bloomberg TV & Radio, National Public Radio (NPR), Harvard Business Review, CNBC, Fast Company, Leader to Leader, American Management Association (AMA) magazine, Leadership Excellence magazine, The Times of India, The Straits Times, The Business Times, and many more.

In 2014 and 2017, he was named one of the Top 100 Global Thought Leaders for Trustworthy Business by "Trust Across America."
